

Package Shipping

Save up to 19% by easily scheduling, labeling, and tracking shipments directly from your desktop.

Every year, employees waste more than $1 billion because they are unable to make informed shipping decisions. The process typically begins and ends in the mailroom, where employees have to decide between shipping options without having visibility into cost.

Using the Rearden Personal Assistant, employees can conveniently ship packages directly from their desktop. They can save money by comparing company-approved shipping options, get rates, print labels, and schedule package pickups. Plus, instead of logging into a portal or multiple carrier web sites, senders and recipients can automatically receive shipment status notifications via e-mail, phone, or text message.

Enjoy reduced desktop shipping expenses by empowering your employees to comparison shop company-approved shipping options. Maximize the use of company negotiated rates by gaining visibility into desktop shipping activity.
